*1001 Wines, You must try before you die, Neil Beckett (General Editor), published by Ebury Press
(not according to vintage)

Indication for wines, which are made according to the biodynamic principles, introduced by the Austrian philosopher Rudolph Steiner in 1924. The basics of this concept encompass the sustainable agriculture and organic principles, not to use any chemical sprays and fertilizers when grapes are grown. The timing of applications and other vine management procedures are based on the cycle of the sun, moon, stars and planets.

The Wine World's Biggest Lies

The reason the price is so high is because the wine is rare and great.

∞

You probably had a 'corked' Bottle.

∞

It is going through a dumb period.

∞

We ship and store our wines in temperature-controlled containers.

∞

You didn't let it breathe long enough.

∞

You let it breathe too long.

∞

Sediment is a sign of a badly made wine.

∞

Boy, are you lucky....this is my last bottle / case.

∞

Just give it a few years.

∞

We picked before the rains.

∞

The rain was highly localized; we were lucky it missed our vineyard.

∞

Robert Parker's Wine Advocate or The Wine Spectator is going to give it a 94 in the next issue.

∞

This is the greatest wine we've ever made, and, coincidentally, it is the only wine we now have to sell.
